

Not So Random Acts Of Kindness

...by Type Your Name Here

I made a difference by doing things around my house and doing yard work. It was ok and gave me something to do.

I was outside and I saw my lawn was overgrown so I thought “Hey look something I can do for this project”. So I went and did the lawn and while I was out there I saw that the bushes need to be trimmed so I was like, “Hey those bushes are out of control I need to fix that BAM! Another thing done.” Also my neighbor was cutting down his tree so I thought, “I might as well help.” so I grabbed my dad’s chainsaw and went and helped out.

Then when I was making food in the kitchen and there were no forks and I thought, “What the HEYYOO I hate helping out but I need to do something for the project so I might as well do dishes.” I also saw the floor was dirty so I swept and mopped it. Then when I was walking out of the kitchen with my food, I saw the cat and dog bowls and was like “hey last one then I’m done with project” and then I was like “HOLY....COW I’m finally done.”

That is how I did all the requirements for the project. Now its time to throw a party!!! ^('.'^).
